The first system of musical notation consists of two staves, treble and bass clef, in a key signature of one flat (B-flat). The treble staff contains a melody of quarter and eighth notes, while the bass staff provides a harmonic accompaniment with chords and single notes.

The second system continues the musical notation with two staves. The treble staff features a more complex melodic line with some beamed eighth notes, and the bass staff continues the accompaniment with various chordal textures.

The third system of musical notation shows two staves. The treble staff has a steady melodic flow, and the bass staff provides a consistent accompaniment with some chromatic movement in the lower register.

The fourth and final system of musical notation consists of two staves. The treble staff concludes the melody with a final cadence, and the bass staff provides a concluding accompaniment with sustained chords.
