Lord of Creation, Wind of the World

Words by Joan Heybourn

Music by Hazel Hudson

Andantino
\[ \frac{d}{4} = 48 \]

S. A.

Men

1. Lord of creation,
wind of the world,
blow your wind swiftly and free:
north wind of snow,
east wind so cold,
野 west wind whipping the sea.

2

mf
Lord of the rain, refreshing the land, cleaning the valley and plain, river and stream, fountain's bright gleam, sunshine to ripen the grain.

2. Lord of the starlight, moonlight, the sunlighting the world each new dawn, sunsets a-glow, stars twinkling so, gold sun-rise, day-time is born.

Land of the forest, trees of the wood, birds nest and wild creatures race, flowers of the field, harvest time's yield, roses dew-kissed on each face.

If the tune is not sufficiently clear, it may be helpful to move one or two sopranos to the alto line in Verse 3.

3. Lord, by your goodness, so we are fed, nourished by bread and by wine, fish from the sea, fruit from the tree, abundant grapes from the vine.

Lord, all by your hand, fashioned with love and delight,

Lord of compassion, all by your hand, fashioned with love and delight, work for the day, help on its way, peace for the night work for the day, help on our way, bringing you peace with the night.

Poco rit.

© Words: Joan Heybourn
Music: Hazel Hudson