The manger Throne

W Chatterton Dix
(1837 - 1898)

Charles Steggall
(1826 - 1905)
arr D G M

S.
1. Like sil - lver lamps in a di - stant shrine, the stars are spar- kling bright; The
4. The stars in heav'n still shine as first they gleam'd on this wo - nder-ful night; The
5. Faith sees no lo - nger the sta - ble floor, the pave-ment of sa - pphire is there; The

A.

Men

Optnl.

6
bells of the ci - ty of God ring out, for the Son of Ma - ry was born to - night. The bells of the ci - ty of God peal out, and the a - ngel's song still rings in the height; And clear light of hea-ven streams out to the world, and a - ngels of God are crow-ding the air; And gloom is past and the morn at last is co - ming with o - rient light. GO TO BAR 14 love still turns where the Go - dhead burns hid in flesh from fle - shly sight. GO TO BAR 1 heav'n and earth, through the spo - tless birth, are at peace on this night so fair. FINE

10

Copyright © 2013 D G Mason
but may be freely copied for church use.

14

* Verse 3 is often omitted

2. Ne - ver fell me - lo - dies half so sweet as those which are fi - lling the skies; And

*3. Now a new pow'r has come on the earth, a match for the ar - mies of hell; A

18

ne-ver a pa-lace shone half so fair as the ma - nger bed where our Sa - viour lies; No child is born who shall co - nquer the foe, and the spi - rits of wi - cke - dness will quell; For night in the year is half so dear as thìs which has e - nded our sighs.

22

GO TO BAR 14

Ma - ry's Son is the mi - ghty one whom the pro - phets of God fore - tell.

GO TO BAR 1