

Who is this babe so lowly

* The lower A is in the original.
The upper A can be taken where singers find it a strain at the lower pitch.
Both should NOT be used together.

1. Who is this babe so lowly,
Here laid in a manger bed ?
Room in the inn denied him,
But cradled in cattle shed.
This is the Lord almighty,
Messiah, saviour, king,
Whose praises holy angels
With ceaseless worship sing.

2. Who is this babe so tender.
To toil and suffering born,
Whom men will treat unkindly,
With cruelty and scorn ?
This is the Lord almighty,
Whom hosts in heaven adore,
Who, with his word, could scatter
His foes for evermore

3. Who is this babe so gentle,
This babe, so pure and sweet ,
Who wears a smile so loving
His visitors to greet ?
This is our only Saviour
Who deigns on earth to come
That he may open for us
The great eternal home.
